Manager Monthly Commentary

NAV and Portfolio: EJFI's July 2022 NAV was £113.8 million or GBp186 per share, representing a gain for the month of 1.09% and a year-to-date total return of 11.90%.

Portfolio Activity: In July, the Portfolio returned a positive performance driven by regular interest accruals on bonds and the securitisation investments returning 40bps. In addition, there were further strong gains of 74bps on the MSR investment in Seneca as U.S. 10-year Treasury bond rates peaked. Recoveries were made of 30bps in recent mark-to-market price moves against the CDO Manager and UK listed bond positions as credit rates tightened during the month.

Foreign exchange rate movements were modestly negative for the month. The Board and the Manager continue to monitor the USD/Sterling rates in respect of foreign currency exposure and the Company's associated hedges.

Market: U.S. community and U.S. regional banks posted strong earnings in the second quarter of 2022 as strong loan growth and higher interest rates provided tailwinds to net interest income. Loan growth was particularly strong, with many banks growing loans at a double-digit annualised pace during the quarter. Additionally, as capital markets have slowed down, banks are seeing customers re-engage credit facilities for funding to grow their businesses. As a result of the loan growth and the expectation of increased interest rates, forward guidance for net interest income rose dramatically for most banks in our coverage. Concurrently, many banks saw deposit balances decline in the second quarter, primarily due to the Fed increasing the Fed Funds rate and shrinking its balance sheet. Some of the deposit declines were also seasonal in nature, as the second quarter was historically a weak deposit quarter for the banking industry as customers paid income taxes. While deposit funding will certainly become more costly, we believe that banking system liquidity is healthy with industry wide loan to deposit ratios at 63% compared to 76% at the peak of the last cycle in 2019.

Fee revenues, which only account for a small component of revenue for most small and medium-sized commercial banks, continued to weaken due to further pullbacks in wealth management, capital markets, and residential mortgage gain-on-sale income. Regarding credit quality, the only tangible area of credit stress we have observed remains in the non-prime consumer area, which is not an area that commercial banks have focused on during the past decade and therefore an area which the Company has minimal exposure. At most commercial banks, credit metrics such as non-performing loans, net charge-offs, and early-stage delinquencies were stable to showing improvement during the second quarter which supports our stance that the banks underpinning our securitisation investments are well placed to manage the changing economic environment.

Dividend: The Board continues to approve quarterly dividends in line with the target of 10.7 pence per share for the year ending 31 December 2022. A quarterly dividend of 2.675 pence per share was declared 28 July 2022 with an ex-dividend date of 4 August 2022. The dividend will be paid on or around the 31 August 2022.
